New Extern Program provides experience for future career

Parachute into the career of your choice!

The Extern Programme is really taking off but the application deadline is coming up very soon.

This programme gives undergraduates the opportunity to work alongside a professional in the career of their choice. The Extern Programme operates in February and May of 1988, and student information and career counselling sessions are underway now at the Career Centre.

The application deadline is Friday, November 13th.

In the Extern Programme, students join sponsors from the private and public sectors in their work environments for up to one week.

Some of the companies participating in this programme are Pillsbury, MDS Laboratories, The Toronto Star, Northern Telecom, Ontario Hydro, the Ministry of the Environment and several UofT divisions, including the Department of Athletics and Recreation.

What's in it for the student participant? An early opportunity to take a realistic view of your career goals, thus enabling you to steer towards a career which can best accommodate your skills and interests.

The Externship gives students the opportunity to gain valuable career information while getting "hands on" experience and you can also discuss career possibilities informally with your sponsor and make valuable contacts for the future.

For more information, phone the Career Centre at 978-8000 or visit the Career Centre info desk in the Koffler Centre.

Hockey Blues face busy home schedule

By Bernie Angelow

So where are the real Varsity Blues? After a half-dozen pre-season games, the Blues were winless, having dropped all six by an average score of 8-3. Eight to three?!

Then in the opening game of their 1987-88 OUA schedule, the Blues found themselves trailing the Guelph Gryphons by 4-0.

However, the Blues came back and eventually posted an exciting 8-6 victory, in game two last Sunday in Waterloo. Blues lost 9-4 to the Warriors.

Three-year veteran head coach Paul Titanic remains calm, refusing either to panic or to predict endless success. Acknowledging the severe roster depletion caused by graduation and injury, Titanic speaks confidently of building a solid contender around 11 returnees.

Head Coach Paul Titanic

"Last year, we had great goaltending and some pretty good goal-scoring. We could afford to play an open style. We don't have a Kevin Hamlin (All-Canadian goaltender) or Don McLaughlin (point-scoring recordsetter and All-Canadian), but we still have some highly-skilled players and the personnel to play a great team concept," offers Titanic.

In assessing his team's chances, Titanic believes his Blues will be very competitive. "There's not a huge difference between best and worst (in the OUA)," he states. "With talent we can compete with anyone, but," he adds with a measure of understatement, "it will take time."

Gone are the excellent goalkeeping tandem of Hamlin and Paul Fisher, opening the crease to three talented but inexperienced newcomers: Greg Gilhooly, a 6'6" law student from Princeton University; Paul Hunter, a product of the Notre Dame College Hounds program made famous by Maple Leafs Wendel Clark, Russ Courtnall and Gary Leeman; and Bruno Pullara, a graduate of the Provincial Jr. B loop.

Varsity's blue line will sport some new faces as at least three regulars have departed, including superior offensive defenseman Mike Millotte (13 goals, 38 points in 24 games).

Returning are hard-hitting veteran and newly-appointed assistant captain Ben Shepherd, slick-skating former Ottawa 67 Chris Vickers, and strong-positionally but oft-injured defenseman Dan Silc.

Joining this trio is widely-travelled rearguard Brett Vance, an experienced veteran of OHL Jr. A and OUA campaigns at Western Ontario, who is returning from a two-year stint in Finland. A key newcomer is sturdy defenseman Mark Haarmann, a 6'2", 205 lb. former Oshawa General and Sault Ste. Marie Greyhound, who is expected to step in and provide a solid defensive contribution.

Rob Silc

Also showing promise are newcomers Nolan Keogh, Peter Madden, the heady younger brother of Blues forward Mike, and big Tony Rzepka.

The forward ranks boast eight returnees plus another two players with previous Varsity experience, which augers well for the Blues development this season.

Yet, unquestionably, the loss of the prolific troika of McLaughlin-Jim Byrne-Phil Drouillard who, along with defenseman Millotte and winger Pat Graham, accounted for over half of Varsity's scoring output last year, will be a difficult void to fill.

Coach Titanic will look to an enhanced offensive contribution from all of his veteran forwards, but particularly from centremen Rob Silc and Glen Murphy.

The talented Silc finished fourth in team scoring last season with 14 goals and 25 points in 24 league games, but must provide a more consistent two-way effort this season. Murphy, a speedster, can be an explosive offensive performer. He was named an assistant captain in recognition of his leadership qualities.

The Blues strength down the middle includes five-year veteran defensive specialist Rick Traugott, and aggressive two-way sophomore Steve Rosebrook.

Varsity will also look for rookie Andy Rivers, a graduate of the OHL Kingston Canadians, to weave his playmaking magic for the Blues this season.

The left flank appears to be solidly manned by a set of rugged individuals capable of playing well in both ends of the rink.

They are led by captain Chris Callaghan, a dependable veteran of 4 campaigns who netted 11 goals and 11 assists in '86-87 regular season play. A graduate of the second-year winger Tom Warden, whose physical prominence is enhanced by excellent offensive capabilities, should improve on his 7 goals, 14 assists performance last year.

Returning to the Blues after a 2-year absence is Mike Savage, another big, speedy winger with previous Jr. A and CIAU championship experience. A welcome addition is versatile rookie Chris Diefcio, who, at 5'9" is short in stature, but long on talent as evidenced by his selection as Central Ontario Jr. B rookie-of-the-year last winter.

Steve Rosebrook

On right wing, the Blues feature fleet 4-year veteran Eric Orschel, a potential high scorer who recovered from a miserable first half to score 8 goals and 18 points in 23 games last year.

Complementing Orschel's offense is bawdworking Paul Anderson, a strong checking winger. Making his return to the Blues is 21-year old Mike Madden, an aspiring chemical engineer who will give a solid effort in every game.

Women's Blues defend Tournament title

By M.L. Duvali

After coming back with a second place finish from the Calgary Tournament, the women's Blues are hosting their own three day tournament Nov. 6-7-8 in the Athletic Centre Sports Gym.

The competition looks exciting, as both new and established teams from across the country have been invited to Toronto for the weekend.

Representing the Western contingent are two diverse teams. Manitoba is the big gun with experience, while the up and coming Alberta squad looks promising.

Blues head coach Michele Belanger noted the diversity of these two teams.

"Manitoba is strong, with the same returning players and some really good outside shooters. They finished third in Canada last year and are definitely a top team."

"Alberta is a fairly young team but should provide us with some good competition," said Belanger. "We saw them play in Calgary and they had definitely improved by the end of the tournament, so with some game experience they will be progressing."

Brock and McMaster are the Ontario-West competition, and present a veteran and inexperienced lineups. Brock finished second in Ontario in 1986-87 and return this year with three key players in Lisa Osborne, Michele Luke and Yvonne Dooderman as well as some new recruits.

Belanger pointed out that the Marauders are another young team with first, second, and third year players but no major stars.

Ontario-East is well represented by both the York and Toronto cagers. The Blues have a strong contingent of rookies as well as five returning players including veteran all-star Mary Ann Kowal. The Blues rookies "just need some game experience under their belts," according to Belanger. The York squad, coached by former Blues All-Star guard Bill Pangos, lost a lot of vets but also have some strong rookies.

"They beat McMaster a few weeks ago," said Belanger of York. "And they are certainly well coached. They will probably have an aggressive defense and try to maximize their strengths."

Moving across the country to the Quebec region, it is the strength and experience of both the Bishops and Laval teams which should provide excitement at the tournament.

"Laval was the Quebec winner last season," said Belanger. "They are a very exciting team and are returning with most of their players and an aggressive defense."

Although Bishops is comprised of both rookies and veterans, returning players include National Team member Cynthia Johnson as well as several provincial team players.

It looks like an exciting tournament which will provide the younger teams with some game experience and give the veteran teams a chance to prove themselves again this season.

The action begins Friday at 2pm. Blues opening game is at 8pm against the Alberta Pandas, who are making their first appearance at U of T.

#9 JILLIAN HATTE -- Guard; 5'09;

2nd year Innis; Sudbury, Ontario
Jillian joined the Blues last season after an impressive high school career in Sudbury and saw action in 15 games. She played on four city championship teams, two NOSSA champions, and one OFSAA silver medalist, and participated in the Ontario Summer Games. Jillian was 1985-86 Athlete of the Year at Sudbury Secondary School and a key member of NOSSA teams in basketball and volleyball. Fluent in French, she is a second-year student in International Relations.

#10 ANNA BROZIC -- Forward; 5'09;

5th year PHE; Mississauga, Ont.
In her fifth year with the Blues, Anna was a starter last season, averaging 3.9 points and 3.8 rebounds in 36 games. She is a hard worker who can help the Blues as an experienced swing player. She is fluent in Croatian and a graduate of Loretto College School.

#11 PATRICIA JOHNSTON -- Guard, 5'00
1st year PHE; Barrie, Ontario.

Patricia was regarded as one of the top highschool players in Ontario last season as she led Innisdale Secondary School to the OFSAA "AAA" championship. She was a member of the Provincial and National Junior Teams from 1984-86 and is also active in several other sports. Other athletes in her family include sister Heather, a professional figure-skating instructor, and two hockey-playing brothers: Greg (Boston Bruins) and Kevin (USC Thunderbirds).

#12 MARY ANN KOWAL -- Guard; 5'10;

3rd year Victoria; Sudbury, Ont.
One of the CIAU's top players, Mary Ann was a first team All-Canadian last season as she led the Blues in both scoring (20.4 ppg) and rebounding (5.6 avg). She has been a member of Canada's National Team for two years and is a veteran of three years on the Ontario Provincial and National Junior Teams. She was a member of three OFSAA champions while at Sudbury Secondary School. Mary Ann is an outstanding shooter from anywhere on the floor, and last season sank 92% of her free throw attempts. She is a third-year student in Linguistic Anthropology at Victoria College.

#13 KATHY SOCE -- Forward; 5'10;

1st year PHE; London, Ontario.

Another of Blues talented rookies, Kathy was basketball MVP for two seasons at Catholic Central High School, where she played on two city champions and was also active in volleyball, soccer and track. She is fluent in Croatian.

#14 SUE BARZO -- Centre; 5'11;

4th year PHE; Tillsonburg, Ont.

Sue was voted league MVP last season and was also Athlete of the Year at Annadale High School in 1986 and 1987. She has also participated in the Ontario Summer Games and the Junior Development Program. Her other athletic interests include track and field, volleyball and competitive riding. Sue received a 1987 Tait Mackenzie Entrance Scholarship and the Brazeway Leadership Award.

#15 NICKI BERSWICK -- Forward; 5'11;

4th year PHE; St. Catharines, Ont.

Nicki saw a lot of court time last season and responded by hitting on 48% of her field goal attempts and providing valuable rebounding. She was twice basketball MVP at Laura Secord Secondary School and was named Athlete of the Year in 1983-84. Nicki is also active in touch football, baseball, volleyball, field hockey and track and field.

Coach Chapman promises "new

By Andrew Lindsay

Varsity basketball fans are looking for something completely different looking at the upcoming men's season. Perhaps an appropriate slogan for the Blues 1987/88 would be "Out with the old and in with the new."

Such is the case when no fewer than five principal figures from last year's team have gone elsewhere. Kirt Charter, who made an electrifying impact as a transfer from Queen's, has decided to focus on Track and Field. The popular Terry Victor graduated from PHE. His fellow PHE graduate and team MVP, Sam Hill, has departed to study law in Vermont, where he will continue his basketball career. And two giants who controlled the boards, John Karpis and Roger Rollocks, are pursuing other interests.

These five players made a major contribution to the Blues success last season, and filling these holes should prove challenging to head coach Gib Chapman.

His task will be made easier, however, by a talented core of returning veterans, who are joined by an interesting array of newcomers.

With his team working hard in preparation for the defense of their OUA East Division crown, coach Chapman answered some questions on the state of the team.

Would you describe this season as a rebuilding year, or as a continuation of recent years?

Chapman: At this level, a coach must develop an ongoing program that carries over from one season to the next. We try to recruit players who will fit into our system. Thus, I wouldn't use the word "rebuilding", although I admit we will be depending on less experienced players.

Will the different look of the team open up new possibilities for you?

Chapman: I expect that this team will possess better overall speed and will be superior defensively. On last year's team, there were several high profile offensive

National Invitational Tournament

By Andrew Lindsay

The first real opportunity for Varsity basketball followers to see the new-look men's Blues play under pressure is fast approaching. The 3rd annual National Invitational Tournament begins Thursday November 18th in the Athletic Centre Sports Gym. Second round games are Friday, November 20th, also in the Sports Gym, and the NIT concludes Saturday, November 21st by moving to Varsity Arena.

This tournament will provide an excellent opportunity to see just where the Blues stand in relation to the competition as they look ahead to their regular season.

There are many questions to be answered about the team's outlook for the upcoming campaign. Just how well the squad will play in the absence of so many established stars from last year who have left the team is anybody's guess.

The NIT will be the third in a series of five tournaments the Blues will play before commencing their always-tough regular season schedule in January. When Toronto takes the floor as tournament host, they will face a rough road to the championship final.

According to Blues coach Gib Chapman, this year's eight-team field is its strongest ever. Four of the eight teams were among last year's national quarter-finalists. Two rivals from the Blues very own division (OUAA East), the Ryerson Rams and York Yeomen will be seeking to get their season's off to a fast start by winning the title.

From the OUAA West come the Western Mustangs and the Brock Badgers. The Manitoba Bisons, who themselves are hosting a tournament including the Blues, represent Western Canada and the Stingers of Concordia are the entry from Quebec. Completing this regionally diverse field are the perennial Maritimes power, St. Mary's Huskies.

To overcome these adversaries, the Blues are hoping for as large a crowd of noisy fans as possible to cheer them on to victory. Catch a few games in the NIT -- it promises to be the Best in Basketball.

A reminder to U of T students who purchased

Blues football season tickets -- the ticket doubles as a pass to all 3 days of NIT action. Other students pay $2 per day or $4 for a tournament pass.

look" in '87-88

stars and it was challenging to make them work together. We are hoping that this year we can put on the floor five better-fitting parts to make for a smoother engine.

How does the return of Fred Murrell help the Blues?

Chapman: We are very happy to have Fred back. He brings great leadership and experience. Fred is approaching his last year of eligibility with enthusiasm and is concentrating simply on having fun.

Whom are you counting on to provide leadership on the floor?

Chapman: With our offense, anyone who plays the point guard position is virtually a second head coach on the floor, so we will be expecting Nick Saul to take charge. Hopefully, we will also receive collective leadership from our veterans.

Nick Saul

Can you tell us something about the newcomers to the team?

Chapman: Mario Tenentes, a very solid player, gives us the luxury of another experienced point guard. We expect to see Mario push Nick Saul for his job as the season unfolds.

Peter Nkansah is a guard who has transferred from Western. He has demonstrated excellent defensive quickness and we expect that he will be a tremendous help whenever we apply full court pressure.

Linus Balaisis is a 6'7" forward who represents an interesting project for our coaching staff. A strong player with natural ability and good ball sense, Linus should give us much needed muscle in the key.

Rob Wilson, who joined us this year from Victoria Park C.I., has shown himself to be an excellent student by making constant progress. Rob figures to be our post man of the future.

Yet another point guard is Aaron Deltor who came to us from Kitchener. Almost as an unknown, he has surprised us with his aggressive, tough play, and has made a significant impact on the team.

Do you find anything refreshing about this season compared to last year?

Chapman: Last year, we had so many recognized stars that people expected us to win every game by a big margin and were surprised when we didn't. This put us in a position where we were playing not to lose. This season, with our new look, we can relax and play to win.

Was your decision to return as coach this year a reflection of how much you enjoyed last year?

Chapman: I did enjoy working with the players. As an administrator, coaching gives me the opportunity to be in close contact with the athletes in our program. The teacher-pupil relationship that exists between a coach and his players is something that is fun for me, as is watching the players develop into better overall persons.

Team of the Week 1

Congratulations New College! This year's first "Team of the Week" goes to New's men's tackle football team (Div II). On Sept. 27 a very important win took place at the Back Campus East as New beat Trinity, 26-8 for the first time in five years. Participation was great as 29 enthusiastic guys came out to help defeat a team that has given New some problems in the past. Larry Sadao's efforts proved outstanding as six of his nine passes were completed and earned two touch downs for 107 yards. In addition, Dennis Lee also proved successful as he carried 13 for 97 yards. Unfortunately, a team picture is not yet available, however, we congratulate New College for a well deserved win against Trinity. Nice going guys!

Team of the Week 2 -

The PHE Water Rats are "in the limelight" at October 16's weekend as this energetic women's Inertube Waterpolo team proved unbeatable with final scores of 11-4-8-3, against the UC Firedragons and Victoria Vice, respectively.

A high turnout and an outstanding team effort gave the Water Rats the winning edge. The victory took place on October 7 in the Benson Pool, where the Water Rats overwhelmed the audience into silence as the team cheered themselves on. As one team player commented, "We played fair and had fun while making friends on the other team."

Team of the Week 3 -

The Team Of The Week for the week ending October 23 was "Skule", Engineering's men's Tackle Football team. Although Skule had some trouble on the field, their superb and unlimited spirit deserves recognition.

Even after a couple of losses, they still gathered a full team of enthusiastic and spirited guys, and even managed to score the first touchdown on the mighty New College team. According to one player "never say die" was the motto behind this outstanding performance.

Battle for the 94th Mulock Cup Saturday November 28, 1987

The Mulock Cup celebrates it's 94th anniversary this year. Each fall, U of T intramural football players preserve a legacy established by Sir William Mulock. In 1894, Mulock served as Vice-Chancellor of the university. He donated a trophy to the victorious intramural tackle football team.

Since 1972, the Mulock has been competed for in two divisions. The larger colleges and faculties compete against each other in Division I which allows the smaller colleges/faculties to share in the championship by competing in Division II.

The Mulock will be played Saturday, November 28, in Varsity Stadium, a fitting home for the oldest football award in North America.
